

S.F. HARDY

AUTHOR • SPEAKER • ENTREPRENEUR

ABOUT

Reading is a gift that should be shared with everyone! Stephanie 'S.F. Hardy' Fazekas, has devoted her personal and professional life to passing the infinite joy of reading to all those she encounters. By day, she lives out one of her wildest dreams as a Children's/ Young Adult Librarian. She is a poet and an independent author of: The Empress' New Hair and Like a Salad.

S.F. Hardy is a staunch literary advocate with an enormous mission to saturate the children's publishing market with books inclusive of marginalized people and boys through her imprint: Shenomenal Ink. She boasts membership in Motown Writers Network, Society for Children's Writers and Book Illustrators and Amazing Woman Network. Look for her early literacy initiative: Get Litty, where children will be empowered to be extraordinary through literacy!

BOOK REVIEWS

"Children often have questions about race and skin tone, and Like A Salad addresses this natural way. Like A Salad engages youth readers in a Light Hearted dialogue about differences in skin tones, comparing their family members' skin to carmel, the summer' sun, and even khaki pants.

Families will enjoy the warm, conversational tone and bright cheerful illustrations of multi-generational, mixed-race family found in the book. Like A Salad provides much needed representation to reflect the the growing diversity of our society."

- Jessica Keyser,
Director of Grosse Pointe Library

"Like A Salad by S.F. Hardy is a wonderful book celebrating individuality and all the lovely shades that we come in. A lively, fun story, engaging and with beautiful art work, S.F. Hardy did a great job"

- J.D. Mason,
National Bestselling Author

LETS TALK

- Raising Tory: From Teenage Mom to Mom of a College Entrepreneur
- Moving Out Of My Own Way: Confidence and Effort are Your Best Friends
- Cultivating a Joy for Reading: Being An Early Reading Advocate.
- Conquering Indecisiveness
- Overcoming Childhood Sexual Abuse

"I wanted to write a story that positively satisfied the curiosity of children who innocently ask why family members are different colors."

~ S. F. Hardy

S.F. HARDY THE AUTHOR

SFHARDYWRITER

@SHENOMENALINK

Tel: 313-363-8624 | Email: sfhardybooks@gmail.com | Web: sfhardybooks.com